At a meeting of the Union members of the Legislature, in the House of Representatives. on Monday evening, February 16th, 1863, on motion, Hon. Joseph R. Underwood was called to the Chair, and John B. Bruner, ap-

After a free and full consultation, it is rec ommended to the Union Democracy of Kentucky, that they assemble in Convention, through their delegates, in the city of Louisville, on the 18th day of March next, and nominate suitable persons as candidates to fill the various State offices, to be chosen at the next Angust election. It is further rec ommended that the people meet, at some convenient time and place, in their respective connties, and appoint delegates to represent them in the Convention.

J. R. Underwood, Chairman. JOHN B. BRUNER, Secretary.

It is a common error enough for men to i nagine that a derangement of finances is a minor evil when compared with others that spring out of turbulcuce and revolution. I seems ldle to compare the injuries derived from the overthrow of great political princ, pies with the mere disorder in the circulating medium. For men to be deprived of life o liberry without due process of law has been held the blebest crime of which a Government could be guilty; yet it has been well taken The charge of secession proclivities for some that any derangement of the finances, or lnju ry to the medium of commerce between man and man, is more fruitful of injury than any other evil. As money is a necessity that must lif their charge be true, and we call attention be everywhere, so any depreciation falls upon every man. The injuries of a bad Government fail upon the few; the injuries of a bad curren y fail everywhere.

Another consequent of an inferior currency is that it is apt to mislead in calculations both Aug Union man who makes such a charge of our own resources and those of our enemics. Thus, when we read of flour at fifty cents a pound in the North, with our pre-conceived notions of the value of the circulating medium, we are apt to be misled. It seems im possible that they could live at such prices We tail to appreciate the character of the currency in the South, and that it is not so much the rise in the price of grain, great as that is, Union as the decline in the value of what goes to pay for it. So in one own section we are startled at finding that our own paper has fallen to filty cents on the dollar without accepting the great there is no inducement to Southern men to re revolution that has occurred since the war inru to the Union. They iose all by it. There has had the effect of making the evidences of the creating medium. We are no longer a lifthe choice wer hard money Government. Paper, and not gold and silver, is the currency lu ail domestic deal

How long cap we bear this ? for it is clear that we cannot hope to continue always, with a currency that is worth only half what is used lu other countries. So long as we can use it in our daily transactions, when the paper buys the necessaries of life as readily as the currency which it superseded. So long as prices do no exceed the greater plentifulness of the currency. That is, so long as the credit of the Government is able to keep pace with its issues. It must be clear that there is a point where these lesnes must stop. Every note is an evidence of indebtedness, and therefore every new issue deteriorates the value of the whole. There must be a point where the depreciation will be in the exact ratio of the rise in the value of produce. As gold can no longer be considered the test of value we must resort to other means to find the value of our cur rency, i. e., the credit of the Government. By a comparison of prices we think it will be found that our credit is impaired by our iudebteduess and other causes, to the rate of fifteen or twenty per cent .- a heavy tax On the other hand, in the South, the credit of the Confederacy is down fifty per cent. below ours, existence, and we are not compelled to read and, if it is to be the last dollar that wins, we any more of its absurd and wicked proceedbid fair to gain the victory. Yet we must not lugs. count on success as Infallible. If the Southern currency reaches a sticking point, sud still serves as medium of trade in the South, and onrs continues to deteriorate, we may sill come ont wrong. At present, a quiet race downward is going on in both sections, which is of vital interest to every individual in both

It is common to trace a depreciation of the currency to the ac's of speculators, to the nature of the certificates of indebtedness, and the effect. A Government itself snetains its credit, and is responsible alone for its decline. Every act which tends to interfere with the enstomary and recognized manner of administering it tende to its injury Parties and principles may claim to be progressive, but wealth is always conservative. Thus, causes apparently remote have a direct effect upon the enrrency.

trary arrests unsettle the public mind, and of the above gentlemen succeeded in saving the most of their goods. that disapproves of it, yet this minority is interested in the finances, and their want of confidence is communicated to the discredit of the Government. Imagine a Stale of a hundred thousand people, thirty thousand of whom believe that a certain act will implie the ability of the Government to sustain itself, and the credit of the Government will be more or less impaired by that very belief. The or kes impaired by that very belief. The arrest of a citizen of New York, which creates a furor in that State, will react upon the wealth of the hoider of Government bonds night. He was sent to Cincinnati, or notes in Kentneky; and so an arbitrary proceeding in Kentucky, which runs counter to public sentiment in this and other States,

In this way every departure from the Constitution is a luxury for which the people must pey la the end. If, instead of fixed laws to be depended on, the arbitrary will of an individnal is introduced, it wholly aiters the basis upon which public credit rests. Investments are made on strong probabil ties, which can in San Francisco, wrote him a note, saying that never exist in a Government where the laws no less he abandoned a certain style of preachare disregarded. Mr. BAYARD, while not rising to formally oppose the resolution, suggested that important questions were involved, as well as the constitutional power to interfere with the qualifications of either branch of Congress.

Mr. DAVIS regarded the law as flagitously unconstitutional. It imposed the test oath, and if they had a right to administer such an oath in one manner, they had a right to of tin another. The majority of the Senate had a great aversion to Copperhead Democrate; but suppose, in three or four years, these Copperhead Democrates should obtain possession of the Government, including the executive and legislative branches, and should come up with their test oath to sustain their political school of politics, were the gentlemen ready to admit that these Copperhead Democrate had core 'litutional power to administer such oath? Yet they would have as much power to impose their form of oath, to promote their party end, as the last Congress had to pass this law, the trusted he could take this gath with as clear a conscience as any man, but he held that Congress had no power to pass a law imposing such an oath. TAIT, SON 4 CO.

Euglish steamer which arrived arrived at Gibraltar writes as follows, on the 8th of February:

"I believe I presed the 290 or Alabam, or at any rate a surpicious vessel very like her. Stewas steaming south. On the 10th I heard reports and saw the flashes of guns, I also saw the bursting of shells. I was eistant about five miles. It was evidently a contest between two ships. I first saw the flashes of the guns at 8 p. M., and toom 10 to 11:30 p. M. the fight ing was very heavy and the exchange of shots rapid. As I could not see the vessels I cannot give any further information."

There was an imposing demonstration at the Amphitheator in Liverpool, on the 19th ult, in support of the Emancipation Prodamation of President Lincoln.

The Liverpool Post says that a more unantmous meeting was never witnessed on any question, and the address to be presented through Minister Adams were adopted. The address tendets respectful sympathy in regard to those measures of Mr. Liveolu's Government, wilch have decationalized slavery and are intended to destroy it. The river was falling rapidly last evening, with fourteen foot of water in the canal. Yesterday was wet, chilly, and every way disagreeable. If the rain continues, we may look for another rise.

The Sallie List, which made two efforts at Mashville to knock down the abutments of the bridge, arrived yesterday, considerably damaged, and have ing been discharged from the Government service, has gone to Madison for repairs. The towboat Sam'l Clark, arrived yesterday with about 30,000 bushels of coal. The Big Gray Eagle brought up from Henderson two hnudred and fifty hhds. tobacco and a lot of grain.

The St. Cloud arrived yesterday from Nashville, At Bettstown, or Betsy's Landing, just below Harpeth Shoals, she was fired i to by guerrillas Seventy shots penetrated the cabin, texas and pllot-house. Several of the crew narrowly escaped. hough we believe no one was seriously hart. The St. Cloud came down the Cumberland without a convoy.

The Great Atlantic came up over the falls yesterlay, making very quick time. The Madison Conrier says that the gunboat Lancaster, which has been undergoing repairs at the ship-yard of Marine Railway Co., is nearly compiete and will leave for parts nnknown in a fer

The new boat contracted for at Townsend's yard, is to be 340 feet iong, 50 feet beam, and 11 feet depth of hold. Her capacity will be 1,960 tons, ustom-honse measurement. The City of Memphils, the largest boat that as yet has been built, measured less than 1,400 tons, though she could arry nearly 2,000. The new hoat is to be built for Captain Reader, and intended for a St. Louis and ew Orleans packet. The Cumberland is falling slowly at Nashville, out there is still an abundance of water.

The Clacinnati Commercial says that the Chamion No. 4 has been purchased for naval purposes. She will leave for Cairo in a few days, taking four five-fine bollers, built by Dumont, for the gunboat Eastport. Captain Han. Handlin and Captain Sam. McBride will go down on the Champion, when sho is ready. The Eostona was sold at Cincinnatia day or two go for $15,000. The steamer Dolphin has been sold at Pittsburg for $15,900, a large advance on the original cost. The Dolphin is a tow-boat, has been in service two years, but is in excellent condition, has powerful machinery, and is considered a bargain at the FOR CINCINNATI.-The Major Anderson will be in trim to-day, and leave for Cincinnati at noon. HENDERSON—The Star Gray Eagle is the regular Saturday packet, leaving at 5 P. M.
